A trained musician, dancer, actor and stage combat teacher, I draw on a portfolio of skills as Artistic Director of an emerging company, Flintlock Theatre, to create highly theatrical work that fully utilises the performer and tells exciting stories – often combining directorial roles with sound design and movement work. I'm interested in exploring the interaction between performer and audience and emboldening both to transgress traditional boundaries. I'm a highly motivated person with a knack for problem-solving and love to work as a part of a team, whether in a leadership role or as part of an ensemble.
